Leadership role in Catholic Education

Consultant in Religious Education for Catholic Schools in the Archdiocese of Wellington

The Archdiocese of Wellington is looking for an enthusiastic and motivated person, passionate about Catholic Education, to join the Catholic Schools Education Services (CSES) team.

The successful applicant will support teachers of Religious Education in the Catholic schools within the Archdiocese of Wellington, support and advise Directors of Religious Studies in their leadership roles, organise courses related to the national Religious Education (RE) Curriculum and promote quality teaching in Religious Education. The role includes support for teachers currently in Catholic schools to ensure that they are appropriately qualified to deliver the primary Religious Education Curriculum and contribute to the Special Catholic Character of their school.

The successful applicant will have recent experience teaching the national RE Curriculum at the primary level and a good understanding of Catholic Character and the professional needs of teachers. They will have an appropriate qualification in RE, have excellent interpersonal skills, and a high degree of professionalism. This position requires travel throughout the Archdiocese to fulfil the responsibilities of the role.

Remuneration is by negotiation and in accordance with qualifications and experience.

Applications close 31 January 2021. Application package available from:
